InSEA

DECEMBER 2015

We wish you

a Merry Christmas

and a

Happy 2016!

InSEA Call for open access e-publications!!!

We are seeking publications about education through art that we can feature on the InSEA website. Have you written or co-authored something that you would like to share with an international audience of art educators? Have you been involved in documenting some teaching or research on education through art? Do you have an interesting (and well illustrated) story to tell about art education in your school, college or community? Have you made a record of some interesting art education project either in the 'formal' education sector or in the wider community? It could be a short photo essay, report or set of lesson ideas/activities or a report about something you have done in the past and it can be a pdf or word document.

Call for research related publications!!

We are seeking publications that have a research focus, for example, reports, articles or theses. We want to feature current and recent research on the general theme of education through art on our web pages.

In addition, we are interested to hear about research groups that are active in the field of art education, as we want to build up our reference section for members. If you have something that you would like added, for example, a pdf, link to a project report or thesis. While we recognise that interdisciplinary work is a growing trend, the main focus should be on visual art, but please interpret that term widely to include design, craft, multimedia and, of course, art education that takes place outside of the formal school or university setting.

If you have something interesting to tell us about, please get in touch - our members will be very interested! To submit or if you have any questions, contact Glen Coutts: inseavicepresidentgc@insea.org

Art, EcoJustice, and Education: Call for Proposals

a call for proposals for a peer-reviewed, edited book project on art and EcoJustice. The collection of articles from various authors will enlighten different ways of studying, supporting, and sharing the themes of socio-ecological issues through artistic practice.

2017 INSEA DOCTORAL RESEARCH AWARD IN

ART EDUCATION

The International Society for Education through Art Doctoral Research Award seeks to recognise an outstanding doctoral thesis in art education with no restrictions on language. The field of research in art education is rich and diverse and so the term 'art education' should be interpreted broadly to include, for example formal and informal sectors, but must be predominantly visual arts. This award will recognize a dissertation of exemplary conceptual, methodological, and literary quality that has been completed between September 2013 and September 2016. Please note that the nominator and the nominee must be InSEA members at the time of the nomination.
