

View online versionClick here to editOctober 2016

International Journal for Education Through Art

IJEtA 12.3 is now Available!

Please remember that InSEA members get FREE access to all content of all issues. Log in to the members area at www.insea.org

Follow this link to see the table of contents

InSEA Elections Underway until October,31,2016

Please vote for Vice Presidents and regional reps!

Invitations to vote were sent out September 30. To vote you will need to know your membership number which can be found on your membership card in the members portal. If you have any trouble getting into the portal please contact Heidi May at insea.help@gmail.com.

Many thanks

Rita Irwin, Past President & Elections Chair

Note: All active InSEA members received an email with a link to the on-line ballot form. If you did not received, please contact us at insea@insea.org

KOSEA conference 2016

2016 KoSEA(Korean Society for Education through Art) International Conference

Hanyang University, Seoul, Korea, November 5th, 2016

Call for Poster Sessions (Deadline for Proposals: October 20, 2016)

Conference Theme: Relational Ontology and Art Education: Philosophical Exploration of Core Competence

What makes the KoSEA International Conference successful is your participation so put on your creative thinking cap and consider presenting a Poster Session at the 2016 conference. As our way of thanking you for your efforts if your presentation is selected and send us electronic version of your poster, KoSEA will print out and set up the poster for you and pay for the printing fee.Possible topics include: Relational Ontology and Art Education; Core Competency for Future; Art Education Curriculum; Philosophy of Art Education. Authors are asked to submit a short proposal that describes the main contributions of the poster. Please contact Hongkyu Koh by email (doors94@gmail.com)

iJADE conference, 2016

DRAWING

18 and 19 November. University of Chester. UK

Relate North, 2016

Shetland College, University of the Highlands and Islands is host to Relate North 2016, an annual international event which combines a Symposium and Exhibition. The Symposium will take place in the auditorium of the Shetland Museum and Archives. The exhibition will be located in several venues in Lerwick including a “pop-up” exhibition space, Mareel and Shetland College UHI. Participants include historians, artists, designers and educators working across the northern and Arctic regions, including Alaska, Canada, Finland, Iceland, Russia, Scotland, Shetland, Sweden and Russia. The event is a collaboration between the University of the Arctic, ASAD Thematic Network. We seek to investigate questions such as: How might design practices respond to some of the challenges facing those living in northern and Arctic areas today? What role might art play in chronicling and communicating issues important to people in the north? How might the visual arts represent a northern sense of place? In addition to the broad concerns outlined above, RELATE NORTH 2016 - Practising Place: Heritage, Art & Design for Creative Communities provides an opportunity to interrogate the heritage and visualisation of northern places, the role that community-led initiatives play in making places creative, and the different kinds of creative practices that contribute to place-making in the north

The annual Relate North Symposium and exhibition will take place in the Shetland Islands (Scotland) from 8 - 11 November, the programme can be seen at this link:

<http://www.asadnetwork.org/relate-north-programme.html>

For more information, please see

www.asadnetwork.org

InSEA twitter

InSEA wordpress

InSEA in Linked In

InSEA in Facebook

